One of the major programs annually held by IPES is the IPES scholarship scheme for NUS students. This has been a successful scheme organized by the IPES Scholarship and Fundraising sub-committee since 2009. This year, the Council and its Executive have confirmed the IPES sub-committees will consist of the Scholarship & Awareness Committee, Regulations Committee, Events Committee and a Committee representing Samoan engineers in the South Pacific Engineers Association (SPEA). The Professional Engineers Act 1998 requires that any person, company, statutory body, Government body or organization that undertakes professional engineering works (including design work, investigations and other works carried out offshore relating to projects within Samoa), must be registered with IPES. Therefore, the new Executive Committee wishes to remind all concerned to ensure they submit their registrations.
